Rad American Women A-Z Postcards

Synopsis

Celebrate the radical heroines who shaped America's history with twenty-six portraits--to send to your senator or save for yourself--originally from the New York Times bestselling book Rad American Women A-Z published by City Lights. Bound in a hardcover binding, each of these 26 brightly-colored postcards features the image of an American feminist on the front and, on the reverse, a small fact about the heroine with room to write an original greeting.

KATE SCHATZ is a feminist writer, educator, editor, and the author of the 33 1/3 book Rid of Me: A Story. She is the co-founder and leader of Solidarity Sundays, a nationwide network of feminist activist groups committed to resistance and justice. MIRIAM KLEIN STAHL is an artist, educator, and activist. They are the author and illustrator, respectively, of the bestselling Rad Women series, which includes Rad American Women A-Z, Rad Women Worldwide, Rad Women A-Z postcards, and My Rad Life: A Journal. They both live in the San Francisco Bay Area.

The idea of the postcards was great - just not the execution. So weird that there is NO bio description for the women. I pre-ordered these cards before reviews were out and I was really disappointed. Also - the pictures were just meh.

Love these postcards!

These are very nice, thick postcards with each letter of the alphabet depicted by a radical woman. I like that all of these women changed history, some through politics, some protest or breaking a barrier. Inspirational and made me want to know more about a few I wasn't aware.

"the small fact" is simply a title for her. ~75% of which just say "activist", nothing about what she fought for or any other fact on why she is great etc. I expected at least a sentence for someone being celebrated. Very disappointed.

The packaging is great and the cards are a great sturdy material. I just wish there were more of them for the price.

Bought as a gift for my daughter. She loves it.
