K-Gr 3-Read by the author, Mary Pope Osborne, this collection includes four book: Night of the Ninjas, Afternoon on the , Sunset of the Sabertooth, and Midnight on the Moon (all Random House). The stories flow easily, each one picking up where the prior one left off. Osborne does a good job of summarizing both at the beginning of each book and within the story where necessary. The collection begins with Jack and Annie following clues to find Morgan, their missing magical librarian friend, as the tree house takes them to ancient Japan, the rainforest, the Ice Age, and finally into the future and onto the moon. Librarians will love this series for its emphasis on books and reading as the keys to solving mysteries and discovering adventures. The dialogue doesn't necessarily lend itself well to audiobook format due to the repetition of "said Jack" and "said Annie," which becomes glaringly obvious when spoken aloud. Osborne's narration is adequate, but her attempts at kid-like voices, particularly Annie's, err a little bit on the side of cute. Nevertheless, young fans of the series aren't likely to mind, and the wide listening level makes this a good choice for audiobook collections. Rachel Quenk, Thomas Memorial Library, Cape Elizabeth, ME Copyright 2001 Cahners Business Information, Inc. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

Read by the Author 2 hours, 9 mins. 2 cassettes Jack and Annie return to audio with four more eye-opening adventures. In this collection Jack and Annie learn the secrets of the Ninjas, explore the rainforests of the , go back to the Ice Age, and travel forward in time to visit a moon base. Volume 2 includes: Night of the Ninjas Afternoon on the Sunset of the Sabertooth Midnight on the Moon --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

Excellent starter books. My son came home from kindergarten one day asking if we could get some 'Jack and Annie' books. After some googling, I found out he meant the Magic Tree House books. Love that it's a low price for 4 books. They are a great length for my son (he's 6). I read them to him at bedtime, usually half and then the other half the next night. We've made it through these 4 and now we have to get more! I think they will be great once he starts reading more on his own. Compelling as well as informational.

This is the second Magic Tree House Boxed Set we've bought for our 7 year old son. He loves these books so much, this was our conversation last week. "Hey mom, at our next house let's build a tree house" "Ok, I think we can manage that" "And fill it with BOOKS just like the Magic Tree House!"

My oldest grandson just LOVE these Magic Tree House books! Only at age six, he is quite advanced in reading these great sets of books by a wonderful author!

This entire series is my go-to when I want to gift my granddaughter. She loves reading them and I love that she loves reading!

My granddaughter's best friend requested Magic Tree House books for her birthday. Her Mom suggested starting in order. So I purchased 3 boxed sets from book 1 to book 12. The birthday girl was delighted and happy to have summer reading easily at hand!! I was very happy at how quickly the order arrived and the price. So much easier than going to Barnes and Noble.

My one suggestion as you embark on the MTH journey is to decide if you can tolerate this investment being over and done pretty quickly. My son has read every page himself and I think that is the best way to use these books. He is so motivated to read these his reading skills are developing themselves without any prodding. Since I have a daughter who will start reading soon I think the investment is worth it... if he will share. Now we use the library. He got these at Christmas two months ago and now he is on book 30 I think.

I read this to my 3 and 4 year old boys and they LOVED it. It's a little a repetitive, but I think that is probably best for young soon-to-be readers. I am a huge scifi and fantasy fan and I thought the stories were pretty compelling. The ninja story is particularly well done, with no violence, but a ton of action. On that note they might be a teeny bit scary for a 3 year old. There is a lot of suspense.

My 6 yo loves these books. He's now 7 and we just keep reading them and enjoying them. Great age appropriate and educational adventures.
