Eliza's Kindergarten Surprise

Synopsis

Eliza has to go to school for the first time ever. But she doesn't want to leave Mommy. Mommy understands. She places a kiss on her fingertips and gently slides it into Eliza's pocket. But Eliza's pocket still feels empty inside. Then, at school, she sees things that remind her of her mother. She gets an idea and makes a mommy doll as a surprise for Mommy! Child-friendly illustrations using acrylic paint by Nancy Speir add charm and appeal as Mommy shows Eliza a surprise, too.

Customer Reviews

As my daughter prepared to enter Kindergarten I anticipated her anxiety with a full day program five days a week, sans mom. I purchased this book and created a mommy doll for my daughter to take to school with her, just as the girl created in the story. I presented the book to my daughter the night before school started and when we finished reading it (and I finished drying my eyes!) my daughter told me she would miss me when she went to school. At that moment, I presented her with the doll I had made and she was absolutely surprised and excited to have a mommy doll to take to school.

What I wasn't expecting was that she wanted to make a doll for me to take to work, so I would not miss her so much! She dug out the doll the other day and told me she is going to put it in her new backpack for 1st grade. I was pleased to see that this concept is really a comfort to her. It was easy to make a clothespin doll. Furthermore, the transition to Kindergarten went well!! recently loaned the book to a friend so she could do the same for her daughter. The book presents a great idea and a very cute but totally thoughtful approach to dealing with the anxiety that comes with the whole school experience.

My 5 yr old was having stress about starting full-time Kindergarten, and missing being with mommy all day. This book helped a lot! Her first day went great and now it's no big deal at all!

My daughter is almost 3 years old so she is ready for preschool, this book is helping her a lot with the separation of us when she has to go to school (and it's helping me too) I really recommend this book, lovely way to tell your kids that distance is not important if you love somebody and has this person in your heart.

It was awesome. Liza was cute and made her mom . Friends tried to make her like kindergarten . She loved it. It was a sweet story. (reviewed by 6 year old Bella)

This is a great story, but the display for the Kindle Fire was tiny...two pages at a time on the screen. This makes the pictures very small, even though the text could be enlarged.

Flowed very well. My son and daughter both enjoyed this boo, 5 and 8. Great to read for a bedtime book.

My five year old loved this story. Of course the fact her name is Eliza was a a very big plus.

My granddaughter loved it!
