Customer Reviews

Insiders' Guide to Santa Fe offers travelers, newcomers, and locals the best, most comprehensive information on what's happening in The City Different. Beautiful vistas, rugged mountains, and a thriving arts community are just a few of the many attractions this high-desert city has to offer. Whether you want to surround yourself with the beauty of paintings at the Georgia O'Keeffe Museum, ski some of the best slopes in the country, or experience the history of Pueblo culture, you'll find limitless opportunities for fun, dining, and recreation in this diverse and inviting southwestern location in the shadow of the Sangre de Cristo Mountains. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

Richard Mahler, a resident of Santa Fe since 1988, has written for more than a dozen area publications, including regular columns about life in Northern New Mexico. Richard is the author of eight books, including Santa Fe Memories and New Mexico's Best, winner of the silver medallion award from the American Travel Writers Foundation. Richard also reports from Santa Fe for various radio networks, including CBS and National Public Radio. He shares a faux-adobe house in Casa Alegre with his cat, Chumley. Co-author Nicky Leach has written or contributed to 22 guidebooks focusing on the natural and cultural history of the American West and Hawaii. She also writes regularly for Sunset and New Mexico magazines. Nicky lives in a beautiful canyon north of Santa Fe with her tabby cat, Molly, and loves to hike, camp, and explore the Southwest in "The Princess," her white Jeep. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.
