Daily Language Review by Evan Moor Publishers is my favorite quick overview of grammar, spelling, etc.... for our homeschool. You can choose the level that is right for your child and it only takes them about 5-10 minutes a day. It helps them retain all the basics, while their regular Language Arts Curriculum teaches new concepts.

My friends in teaching have a daily language activity and daily math activity for their students to complete during the homeroom period. This is great for this type of activity. It is also great for supplementing your child's instruction and for tutoring.

Great daily review. I used them all last year for morning work. They are only half of a sheet of paper for each day and 5 questions each day. They don't take a lot of time (if you were looking for more filler). They go along with 1st grade standards well. I did not use the progress charts at the end of each week (children mark how many they got right for each day on a graph).

I purchased these for a teacher in my school district as requested. She has been very happy with them so far.

We really love all the daily review books- they offer a fun variety of skills, without being boring, but offering the repetition it takes to for a skill to stick. I especially love using these books with my kids with a shorter attention span.

This book is organized by day of the week (M-F) for each lesson. The lessons progress nicely at a very good pace, just a bit ahead of my daughter's 1st grade curriculum. It serves as both a review and daily practice for her. The lessons are also self-explanatory so my daughter can do the lesson all by herself and have me check it. At the end of each lesson is a progress table to show how many (problems) the child has done correctly. Overall a very well organized and fun book. I highly recommend it.

Good daily review for your students. I think it is a nice quick activity that keeps your 1st grader thinking about grammar and spelling.

great independent lessons, easy one day review workbook.
