Customer Reviews

I am always eager for new resources on the Heidelberg Catechism. I hope Starr Meade's latest contribution reaches a wide audience, leading more and more families to get acquainted with Heidelberg and think to themselves Where has this been all my life?! — Kevin DeYoung, Senior Pastor, University Reformed Church, East Lansing, Michigan ---

Starr Meade served for ten years as the director of children's ministries in a local church and has taught Bible and Latin classes in Christian Schools. She lives in Mesa, Arizona, where she is currently teaching classes to homeschoolers.

This book provides the guidance needed for consistent family devotions. The Lord's Day questions are broken down into daily, bite-size segments that are small enough to keep the attention of younger children, but meaty enough to engage older children and adults. The only thing that I would change is the updating of the language from the Heidelberg Catechism; we prefer the original. If you're looking for a devotional resource to use with your whole family, Starr Meade has written an excellent book that will keep your family in the word of God.

Fantastic book! We have been using this for Morning time for homeschool.

This is a thoughtful resource, well adapted to young people.

Gave this to our Grandchildren. A great study guide for the Heidleberg Catechism. Wish I had had this when my kids were young!

Really recommend this for personal, marital or family worship and devotion.

If a parent needs a structured way of imprinting the right good news to the next generation, this book gives the right framework..

A good devotional study for any age about foundations of our Christian faith.

we use this with our daily Bible reading. Provokes wonderful discussion (with a 14 year) and nails down truth and challenges us to consider what we believe and the ramifications of what we believe. Wonderful, Truly Comforting and Teaching.
