Kinuko Y. Craft is one of the most widely respected and well-known fantasy artists in the United States today. She is a storyteller, and her work encompasses book covers, opera posters, fairy tale books, and magazine covers. She is known for meticulous attention to detail, a passionate love of fine art, and a deep knowledge of art history. Her work has been widely exhibited and is in private collections around the world as well as public collections such as the National Portrait Gallery at the Smithsonian Museum and the Museum of American Illustration in New York.

Kinuko Y Craft is one of the truly great illustrators, right up there with Edmund Dulac, Maxfield Parrish, and Arthur Rackham. She has conjured women into heroic fantasy via illustrations for decades, winning numerous awards. What makes her paintings so special, besides the luminous quality of her artwork, is the sheer wealth of detail she invests in her backgrounds. You can spend hours studying some of the images, discovering mysteries and revelations in the margins. The best illustrations are like Jungian dreams come to life. When I met Craft at the World Fantasy Convention last year, where she was a guest of honor, I asked her to sign the pages of my calendar so I could give the pictures as gifts to my students.

The art in this calendar is incredibly detailed -- the more you look at each page, the more detail you'll see. Even the frames around each image are decorative! The paper is nice and heavy, and so far it's held up to being removed a few times from its hook so I can add appointments to it. If it's available again next year, I think I'll get another by this same artist.

I had the 2015 and 2016 editions of this artist's calendar as well. And why not have something unique and mysterious hanging on my wall or fridge to mark the months of the year.

Beautiful art work and the prints are clear and true in color. I really enjoy looking at it.

Bought as a gift for my niece, and she likes it. Lovely images.

This series is one of my favorites. As a feminist, I very much admire strong women and find them especially inspiring after a stressful day.

Love this calendar! It is filled with rich, exquisite fantasy scenes that seem to leap off the page. I would recommend it to any fantasy lover or anyone who just wants a little magic in their life. Thank you Kinuko for making this wonderful calendar!

Beautiful images throughout and ample space for entering appointments and social dates
